ALTA MCPHEE WINS HER SUIT

Supreme Court Affirms Decison In the Case of McPhee vs Corrigan

The well known case of the Estate of McPhee vs. J. S. Corrigan has reached a final settlement in the supreme court, which tribunal, in a decision handed down this week, affirmed the decision of the superior court of Mendocino county.

The suit was filed two years ago. Alta McPhee, as the heir to the estate of G. S. McPhee, deceased, against J. S. Corrigan, as administrator of the said estate, to render an accounting of the funds of the estate held by the administrator. The case came up for trial before Judge Seawell, of Sonoma county, Judge White being disqualified, and after a hard fought legal battle the court rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff in the action.

The defendant carried the case to the supreme court and asked for a reversal of the judgment of the lower court, and the decision was handed down this week by the former court, denying the appeal and affirming the judgment of Judge Seawell.

J. S. Corrigan, the defendant, and administrator of the McPhee estate, is under a $30,000 bond, guaranteed by a surety company, and now the company will be called upon to make good the amount of the bond. This new turn of affairs may result in further legal proceedings.

Myrick & Deering, of San Francisco, and Weldon & Held, of this city, are the attorneys for J. S. Corrigan, and J. W. Preston is representing the interests of the heir of the estate.

BEARD DIVORCE CASE SETTLED

Defendant Wins Decree and Permanent Alimony

One of the hardest fought divorce cases that has come before the superior court of this county for many years was settled this week in a decree granted to the plaintiff in the case of Beard vs. Beard.

The parties in the action are residents of Laytonville. Mabel Beard filed an action praying for a divorce from Rafe S. Beard on the grounds of cruelty, also the custody of the children, alimony and a division of the property that had been acquired since marriage.

The defendant bitterly contested the suit, but to no avail as the court decided that the plaintiff had sufficient grounds for an absolute divorce. The plaintiff was also awarded the custody of the children, $1,250 in cash, $150 for support during the trial, and $12 a month permanent alimony.

FAKE OPTICIAN IS ARRESTED

Shrewd Swindler Again Behind the Bars

Sheriff Donohoe received word this week to the effect that H. Jennings had been arrested in Los Angelos and that the peace officers of Sonoma county would be after the prisoner.

It will be remembered that last fall H. Jennings and G. W. Chester, traveling opticians, were arrested at Covelo for obtaining money under false pretenses. They gave bail on appeal to the superior court. Said court affirmed the decision of the lower court and the above named parties failed to appear, hereby forfeiting their bail money of $350 each.

The two individuals were also wanted by the sheriff of Sonoma county on a similiar charge, and our officials think they are fortunate to be rid of the pair and also to have $700 in real money to turn into the county treasury, so they will not claim the prisoners at present.

Not a Paying Business

The sum of $237.50, one hundred of which was in fines, and the remainder for a liquor license is what it cost C. Worth of Cloverdale to present an Indian with a drink of liquor. Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue J. C. Pobley assessed him for the license.

SOLONS ANXIOUS FOR ADJOURNMENT

Session Nearing the Closing Hours—General Appropriation Bills are Cut From $8,000,000 to $4,000,000 in Committee—Committee Substitute Resolution on Jap Question

By SENATOR J. B. SANFORD

Sacramento, March 9th.—The legislature is nearing a close and every one is working hard to pass his bills so that adjournment may take place at an early date.

The general appropriation bill is now being considered and will soon be up for passage: as it now stands the bill carries an appropriation of $9,658,295 as against $8,133,689 of the session of 1907 making an increase of $1,524,606 so it can be readily seen that it costs some money to run the State of California. This amount is to provide for all departments of government for the next two fiscal years. The great increase is due mainly to the increased cost of conducting the State hospitals and prisons; the increased cost of living is one factor and the increase in the number of inmates in the institutions is another. The Mendocino State Hospital is allowed $205,000 for maintenance and $145,000 for salaries. In addition to the general appropriation bill, there are hundreds and hundreds of special appropriation bills; the total of which reaches about $8,000,000 but these have been pruned in committee so that the total will not exceed $4,000,000. It is quite evident that the state can not afford to appropriate money for anything that is not absolutely needed.

A great deal of legislation has been done within the last week. One of the best bills of the session, Senator Miller's Reciprocal Demurrage Bill was passed recently. It provides a fine of $5 per day for each car that is ordered by a shipper and failed to be delivered for use by the railway and a $5 fine on the shipper who causes the railway delay. This is a splendid measure and will assist the shippers all over the state. Senator Miller is a Democrat and has succeeded in securing the passage in the senate of this meritorious measure.

A number of fish and game bills have passed, of which some mention has been made in these columns. The new license law relative to hunting has been amended to include fishing so if one wishes to hunt or fish, he will have to secure a license that will cost him a dollar. Boys under fifteen years of age are excepted so young Americans can still hunt and fish without having to pay a license in order to do so.

The railroad question is still very much discussed; it is thought that the Stetson bill will finally be passed. A victory for the people here, as was in the direct primary bill, was due to the Democratic members. All the Democrats in committee voted to support the Stetson measure and won out by two votes. The question will have to be fought out on the floor of the Senate. The constitutionality of all the bills is the question but the best thing the legislature can do is to pass what seems to be a good measure and leave the rest to the courts.

The direct primary bill is almost on the rocks in the Assembly and a great effort is being made by opponents of the measure to emasculate the bill. It was due to the Democrats in the Senate that the bill was passed and it will be up to the Democrats in the Assembly to save the bill there, so if the people get a direct primary law, it will be due almost entirely to the strenuous efforts of the Democratic members. If the bill is defeated it will be due to the Republicans.

The Japanese question is probably settled for this session; the committee on Federal Relations composed of Senators Black, Sanford and Burnett last week presented a Committee Substitute Resolution to cover some four or five resolutions that were before the committee. The resolution is a good one and has been adopted by the Senate. Senator Sanford desired to amend it by making it stronger on the question of naturalization by adding the following to it:

"Whereas, Instead of extending the elective franchise by adding a large and undesirable element to our voting population, our endeavor should be to safe guard and elevate our citizenship by all reasonable restriction, so Therefore Be it Further Resolved, That we oppose the proposition to naturalize the Japanese and extend the elective franchise to the alien born of that race as being inimical to the well fare of the American people."

This amendment was voted down by the "organization" but the Democrats placed the Republicans on record as not being really opposed to the naturalization of the Japanese. The Democrats all voted for the original resolution. It is stated the Assembly intends to kill this resolution.

We had considerable fun the other evening over the meadow lark. The bill was up for passage removing the meadow lark from the list of protected game and quite a fight took place; the result was that the bill failed of passage. The bill intended to make it lawful to kill the meadow lark at any and all times. As the law now stands, the meadow lark can be killed in certain seasons if found doing damage to crops, etc.

For some fifty days, the legislature has been fighting and scrapping over Sanford's Joint Resolution No. 3, relative to granting increased powers to the Interstate Commerce Commission, condemning the combine existing between the Trans-Continental lines and the Pacific Steamship Company and advocating the operation of a steamship line between Panama and the Pacific coast ports by the government. This measure passed the Senate over a month ago; went to the Assembly and was emasculated by the friends of the Pacific Steamship Company and the railroad. The Senate refused to concur in the Assembly amendment and asked the Assembly to recede; the Assembly refused to recede and a conference committee was appointed. This conference committee could not agree and a free conference committee was finally appointed. This committee finally agreed by making several amendments to the original resolution omiting all reference to the Bristow report and simply advocating the passage by Congress of the Flint-McLachlan bill appropriating $10,000,000 for building steamers to be run from Panama to Pacific coast ports. The Senate and Assembly adopted the report of the conference committee and the Sanford resolution as amended will be sent on to Congress. It was a long fought battle and was a victory for the author of the measure.

The Senate passed the Sanford Coyote bounty law which provides for a state bounty of $2.50 on every coyote killed provided the county in which the coyote was killed, pay a like amount. The bill is safe guarded with all restrictions necessary to prevent fraud. The bill is now being considered by the Assembly committee and it is hoped that it may pass that body.

There is much discussion being carried on now over Senator Sanford's Senate bills 1229 and 1230. These bills provide that when the supervisors are sitting as a board of equalization, they may appoint legal or other assistants to assist them in uncovering property that has escaped taxation and gives them the power to subpoena witnesses and such other evidence in all matters pending. The object of these bills is plain. The assessor in making the assessment of the farmer, merchant or ordinary man always gets all his property on the roll because it is in plain sight. Every horse, cow, harrow, wagon etc., is in plain view and is assesed. When the assessor comes to assess corporations and the "malefactors of great wealth" it is not so easy to find their property as it is in bonds, stocks, moneys and credits.

THE FUTURE OF THE COAL FIELDS

Important Deal Made in Connection With the Eel River Coal Mines

Recent developments that have lately come to light go to show that the owners of the vast bituminous coal beds on Eel river are confident of a great future for the deposits, and have the utmost faith in the field proving a bonanza.

For several years the supply of butminous coal on this coast has been very limited, and the coal barons have been eagerly searching the entire Pacific coast for new fields to supply the San Francisco market. Vast quantities of the black diamonds have been brought to this coast from foreign countries.

For the past few months a gang of miners have been working on Eel river opening up the coal veins, and the result is said to be very promising.

From a press dispatch from Oakland on March 6, we republish the following: "A deal was consummated this morning for the purpose purchasing of 600 acres of land three miles near Point Richmond, which is said to be the prospective terminal of a new railroad.

This road, which is said to have the backing of the Guggenheins to tap a new coal deposits which have been discovered in the neighborhood of Eel river in the northern part of this state. This comes as a distinct surprise to coast manufactures who had about despaired of finding any bituminous fuel in California."

This looks as if some important developments would be made in the near future.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Sister of Ukiah Lady Receives Painful Injuries

Mrs. Robert Duncan, wife of our genial district attorney, received word on Sunday that her sister Mrs. G. R. La Rue, had been the victim of an automobile accident in Sacramento on Saturday evening and was dangerously injured. Mrs. Duncan left on the early train Monday to be in attendance on her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. La Rue were engaged in trying out a new auto, driven by a chauffeur, when the latter saw another machine approaching and to avoid a collision he turned his machine into the curb throwing the occupants out on the pavement. Mrs. La Rue sustaining a fracture of the jaw and also internal injuries. La Rue was only slightly injured. The injured lady was removed to a hospital and an operation performed.

Mrs. La Rue is well known in Ukiah, having visited her sister here on several occasions. She is the daughter of the late John McMurray.

OFFICIAL ON VISIT TO CASIMIR

District Deputy Grand Matron Inspects Chapter

On Tuesday evening District Deputy Grand Matron Mrs. J. S. Ross, of Mendocino, paid her official visit to Casimir Chapter O. E. S. in this city.

The occasion was one that will long be remembered by the members. Their honored visitor fully examplified the workings of the order for their edification, and bestowed many compliments on the lodge officers for the perfect manner in which they performed their duties. All the officials were found to be letter perfect in the delivery of their charges.

About forty members and invited guests were present. Two new members were admitted by affiliation. The business of the meeting was concluded at 11.30 and immediately following a midnight luncheon was served. Many toasts were proposed and responses given. Casimir is noted for its members who are gifted in the oratorical line. Dull care was forgotten and mirth reigned supreme.

C. B. Christiansen, the new Wells, Fargo agent in this city, arrived in town on Saturday, and entered upon his duties at once. He has rented the residence owned by C. D. Flowers on West Perkins street where his family are now residing.

IRRIGATION IN UKIAH VALLEY

Plans to Run Irrigation Ditches Through Ranches on East Side of Valley

By CARL PURDY

During the past week a strong interest has been awakened in the subject of irrigation on the east side of the river in this valley.

Carl Purdy has visited all interested parties from the upper section of the Hoffman ranch down to Hildreth's and discussed with them ways and means to secure water through the Snow Mountain Water & Power Company. The success of a plan which will give an abundance of water to that rich section this year seems likely. The Snow Mountain Company have given assurance that they will put powerful pumps in the river at the best point to reach consumers, and will pump into a ditch all of the water that can be used. For the water and pumping they will make a charge of about $3 an acre. No limit is put upon the amount of water per acre.

To meet this offer, the farmers would have to give rights of way and construct a ditch about a mile and a half long. It is suggested that this can best be done by an incorporated company consisting of the farmers themselves, on the basis of a share of stock for each acre of land to be irrigated this year, and new stock to be issued at the cost at date of issue on the same basis of a share of stock to each irrigated acre of land. A ditch charge would have to be made for those who took no stock. In this way the control of the ditch would always be in the hands of the people who used the water.

Before the exact route of such a canal or ditch could be fixed it would be necessary to make a careful grading survey. A level has been run and it indicates that by placing the pumps at the point on the wagon road where the road from Levaggis' vegetable garden first approached the Hoffman fence, a ditch starting twenty-five feet above the river would pass around the base of the hill above the wagon road to the north and south line between Pettie and John Hoffman, cross the little valley back of the Pettis house with a short stretch of flume and cross the county road a little west of the Pettis house, thence would cover nearly all lands south, or with a high flume back of Pettis would go on the ridge by Talmage post office and irrigate all of that region.

The necessary ditch would be very cheaply built as the plow and scraper would do most of the work. For the area invoived a ditch six feet wide and two deep would be ample, which would mean one deep furrow thrown as a run on the sides. Flumes are more expensive, the expense of a 6x3 box depending on the height of the trestle. If on the ground or low above 24 board feet per running foot would be required. If elevated an additional expense for trestle. For the lower level mentioned the flumes would be placed on a ridge of earth without trestling.

The value of a comprehensive irrigation system to our country cannot be over estimated. With it alfalfa could be grown on all of the middle land up lands and would produce as heavily as the best valley lands without water. We pursue dairying under difficulties now. With abundant alfalfa it would be very profitable. The owner of ten acres of upland without water, works among his neighbors for a living while with water alfalfa for cows and chickens, garden and fruit he would do better at home. Water makes truck gardening possible. It allows the farmer to rest and remake his worn out grain land by a change of crops. By giving him many sources of income it spreads his work over the entire year. Alfalfa and hogs are one of the most profitable of combinations. If he grows fruit they are all the better for irrigation, and by increasing the wealth and population we have better roads and schools. It is safe to say that the day that abundant water is in reach every acre of land within its reach, will be worth 50 per cent more to either to sell or keep.

RECOMMENDS CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

"This from me as I can remember my mother was a faithful user, and friend of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy but never in my life have I realized its true value until now," writes Prof. H. A. Howell, of Howell's American School, Havana, Cuba. "On the night of February 3rd our baby was taken sick with a very severe cold; the next day was worse and the following night his condition was desperate. He could not lie down and it was necessary to have him in the arms every moment. Even then his breathing was difficult. I did not think he would live until morning. At last I thought of my mother's remedy, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which we gave, and it afforded prompt relief, and now three days later, he has fully recovered. Under the circumstances I would not hesitate a moment in saying that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy only, saved the life of our dear little boy." For sale by J. R. Mathews, Ukiah, Cal.

Going Some.

Being pursued by a farmer and his three sons after being caught in the chicken yard, a young colored person had just made up his mind that he was not eluding his followers as quickly as might be when a long eared jack rabbit jumped up from the roadside and started down the road ahead of him. The would be chicken thief had run a few hundred feet farther when the farmer and his boys were astonished to hear the negro shout in a voice that quavered with fright, though unrestrained, "Say, for de Lord sake, you rabbit, get out ob de way and let some one run who can run."—Argonaut.

A Doleful Mood.

The propietor of a Paris cafe noticed that after he had refused to give his pianist an increase of salary the number of his customers dwindled rapidly. It was only when all but one diner had deserted him that he discovered that the pianist had been inflicting Chopin's "Funeral March" on the audience nightly. The pianist, who was proceeded against in the law courts and was fined 50 francs, pleaded that he played according to the mood he felt in after his request had been refused.

Here was an opportunity not to be lost. "No," said I, "I am not a Quaker. I am an Episcopalian."

There was a short, awkward pause. Then the first workman, evidently of an inquiring turn of mind, said to his fellow mason, who seemed to be considered an authority:

"A Episcopale one, 'e says 'e is. Wot's that, Bill?"

"Oh," replied the learned Bill, quite equal to the occasion, "that's one of them fancy foreign religions, sure!"

The Emperor's Orderly.

Frenchmen of every rank and class dearly love titles. The manager of a Paris insurance company was decorated with the Legion of Honor a few days ago, and the clerks in the employ of the company presented him with a piece of plate to which their visiting cards were attached. On looking over these he was a good deal puzzled and amused by the visiting card of the office "boy," an old soldier from the Invalides, who was employed to open the office doors from 9 to 4. Under the man's name was the title "the emperor's orderly." He sent for the old soldier, who stumped in and saluted.

"Of what emperor are you the orderly, and how?" he asked. The old Invalide drew himself up to attention.

"I am the orderly of the emperor," he said, "Napoleon, le Petit Corporal."

"But he is dead. He has been dead some time," answered the puzzled manager.

"I dust his tomb for him," growled the old soldier.—London Express.

Interesting Budget of News From Our Northern Corrspondent

Willits, March 9—Two deaths have occurred here since my last letter. Grandma Shimmin died Wednesday, March 3rd, aged 80 years, 11 months and 24 days. She was born in the State of New York and came west over 40 years ago. She was married to E. R. Shimmin in Nevada, in the year 1870 and they came here in 1873 and located on the Shimmin ranch 15 miles northwest of Willits here they resided until 1900, the year of Mr. Shimmin's death. The funeral was held Friday afternoon and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Minnie Sanford, the beloved wife of Fred M. Sanford, passed over to the silent majority last Friday morning. She was 26 years of age and had been married a little over four years. The funeral services were held at the Odd Fellow's hall yesterday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. B. B. Conner, assisted by the Rebekah lodge of which the deceased was a faithful and respected member. The remains were laid away in the old cemetery. It was a very sad occurance on account of the peculiar circumstances which caused her death.

Rev. J. E. Maguire has resigned the pastorate of the Willits Baptist church and will return to the San Joaquin valley. His successor will be Rev. Norman Nicklin, a young man from Pennsylvania, who is expected here sometime during the month of May.

The railroad steam shovel and repair train came up Saturday and the crew is now repairing the track on the Sherwood branch above En Oima. The logging train is expected to resume operations in a few days and the Northwestern mill will probably start up again next Monday. All of Willits is very much interested in the resumption for it spells electric light again. A month of darkness illuminated only with coal oil lamps and candles will cause us to appreciate the service more than we did before.

It would be safe to say that half of our people are laid up with bad colds and the grip. It keeps our doctors on the jump day and night.

Every indication at this writing points to at least a few days of good weather—but it may be raining before night.

Dr. W. L. Blodgett returned from San Francisco Saturday. He has been in a hospital for over a month taking special treatment. While he is not well still he is greatly improved and hopes to be himself again in a few weeks.

SAN FRANCISCO

CONDITION OF COUNTY HOSPITAL

Report of County Physician Showing the Needs of the Infirmary

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, Ukiah, Cal.

Gentlemen:—The plant at the county farm has again become inadequate and it will be necessary to make provisions for the increasing number of inmates. The erection of the cottage for the steward enables us to convert the womens' ward into a ward for men, thus making provision for thirteen more inmates. This simply relieves the congestion of the other wards and conditions are gradually returning to where they were when the board found it absolutely necessary to increase the size of the plant.

The dining room is altogether too small to accommodate the number of inmates that we have, and it is necessary to feed many of the men in the wards. As many as 23 trays have been sent out at one time. This involves a great deal of extra labor, which we can ill afford, as the hospital has the same number of employees it had six years ago when there were only half as many inmates.

The kitchen range is too small for the amount of cooking necessary to feed eighty men and it is only by ingenuity and much extra labor that the cooking can be done at all.

During the last six years the increase in the number of inmates has averaged about seven a year. Last year, (calendar not fiscal) the increase was 23 per cent, but considering this exceptional and the normal rate of increase only 7 indigents or 10 per cent, a new ward of the size in use at present will have to be built every three years.

I would advise the adoption of one of two plans. A new ward could be built and the present dining room enlarged by removing the partitions on the east. Or, what would be a preferable plan, a new dining room and kitchen could be erected and the old building used for women. The present quarters for females could then be converted into a male ward and would accommodate about twenty men. This latter building, with a new range would cost about $2000.

Mendocino county is the 16th in point of number in the state and has an estimated population of 22,462. It is growing rapidly and provision for an annual increase in the number of indigents must be made. The day of makeshifts has passed as every inch of the present quarters has been utilized..

The report of the State board of charities and corrections for last year shows that this county has no higher percentage of indigents in its almshouse than the other counties in the state. Forty-one counties have a larger death rate in their hospitals than Mendocino county. It may possibly be due to the fact that our indigents are tougher.

WELL WORTH KNOWING

Any Lump In Woman's Breast Is Always Cancer

The papers made mention some time ago of several marvelous cures of large cancers in women's breasts by Dr. Chamley, the world renowned cancer specialist of 696 McAllister St., San Francisco, Cal. This Doctor makes the bold assertion that he has in over 35 years cured more cancers than any other Doctor living and offers $1000 if he fails to cure any single cancer he treats. Strictly reliable; no X-Ray or other swindle. The fact that not a dollar need be paid until cured should convince the most skeptical of the Doctor's honesty and fair dealings. He has, probably the best book ever printed on cancers and tumors cured without knife or pain, wherein he teaches and proves that any lump in woman's breast is cancer. This book of testimonials of thousands of wonderful cures. everywhere is sent free to all who write Dr. and Mr. Dr. Chamley Co., describing their cancer. The reader may save a life by sending this to some one with cancer.

Commandant Soulie de Cenac of the French Legion of Honor has designed a pince-nez, or eyeglass, called a periscope, which enables the wearer to see at the same time on all sides and even behind. This is ingeniously effected by means of reflections. At the same time the glasses are so constructed as to correct myopia and other errors of vision. A use for the instrument that the inventor did not think of has been revealed to him by deaf persons employing it. They say that it increases their safety by enabling them to perceive the approach of dangers of which their ears give them no warning.

Work For Goats.

Farmers in the vicinity of Lawrenceburg, Ind., have found that a herd of goats will clear the underbrush from a farm in a few months and do a good job at moderate cost. For the last five years a herd of forty goats has been eating and working there, and in that time the animals have changed owners ten times. As soon as their owner discovers that there is nothing left on his farm for the goats to feed on but good grass they are lent or sold to another farmer for a similar purpose.

The Death of M. O. Farrier

(By Correspondent)

Editor Dispatch—Would you kindly publish the following as the facts in regard to the death of M. O. Farrier, which occured near Boonville last week.

The deceased had made his home with Thos. Cook and wife for the past six months. He was a brother of Mrs. Cook. For many years he had been partially paralized and was unable to walk without a cane.

On the evening of his death he was invited out to a card party, and on his return to his home he stopped at the residence of H. O. Robinson, it is supposed to rest. He had been a frequent visitor at Robinson's and was familiar with the place. No one was at home at the time and it is presumed that the dispondent man went to a closet and found a revolver and then fired the fatal shot into his head. The body was not found untill late in the evening. Several paries had seen the deceased enter the house but thought nothing of the circumstance as he often visited the place.

M. O. Farrier leaves four brothers and sisters to mourn his loss—Mrs. Sarah Singly, of Ukiah, Mrs. Thomas Cock, of Boonville, Mrs. Belle Parrett and Mrs. Selin Lenther, of Eureka, three brothers in Oregon and one at Folsom. Relative.

THIEF TAKES SAVINGS BANK

Makes Raid on Residence and Gets Twenty Dollars

It is not often that a burglar has the nerve to operate in this city, and then one has never before been known to enter the house of a printer in search of money. Yet this incident really occurred in Ukiah last Friday when the residence of D. W. Chilson on South State street was entered by a burglar and a savings bank containing about $20 was stolen.

No one was at home when the burglar called, and he had plenty of time to search the house for valuable, as the place showed he had made a thorough investigation of its contents. No clue has been found that would lead to the arrest of the thief.

Neither the assessor or the board of equalization have time themselves and probably are not expert enough to known how to get at this property. This bill gives them the power to employ experts to assist in uncovering the property. The corporations all over the state are opposing the measure bitterly as they wish to have as much of their property escape taxation as possible. The railroad machine has taken up the fight in behalf of the corporations all over the state and has sent out messages urging the assessors to fight the measure. Some railroad assessors have responded but the people and honest boards of supervisors all over the state are also wiring legislators to stand for the bills. It will certainly mean a great deal to California if these bills are passed. It is estimated that over $100,000,000 worth of property escapes taxation every year. The farmer pays taxes on all his property, so why should not all the rich corporations? If the corporations will pay their proportion of taxes, the state rate of taxation can be reduced about 20 per cent. These bills were introduced on February 17th, after the time of introduction of bills, and they had to be examined by a committee before permission would be granted to introduce them. The committee reported in favor of the introduction of the bills, the constitution was suspended by two-thirds vote and the bills introduced and the author quietly had them referred to the committee on County Government and succeeded in getting them out of the committee and on to the files before the railroad machine saw the real intent of the bills. Then there was great commotion and thousands of telegrams sent all over the state urging every railroad man and corporation agent to assist in killing the bills. If the people will now get as busy as these private interests have and wire their friends in the legislature, there may yet be hope for the bills.

The hospital buildings need a coat of paint both inside and out, and an operating room is absolutely required but until provisions can be made for the indigents seeking admittance into the Farm these improvements must be held in abeyance. The board has erected two buildings in the past year and the management would hesitate to ask for more buildings if it were possible to provide for the old people with our present facilities.

Subjoined you will find statistics showing number of patients, cost, etc. It will be noted that it costs almost as much for the indigents outside of the county farm as it does to run the almshouse and hospital and that the former is costing us more in proportion every year. There are four men, now in the county farm, who have cost the taxpayers $7,3409.50. One man has cost $2,658.36 and another $2,502.50.

Five men have cost a total of $4,690.80. Five more have taken $3,909.00, Th county has spent just $13,760.10 on a dozen men during the time they have been at the farm and if they live until July they will have cost about $15,000.00. It will be seen that it takes money to run an almshouse even if the inmates "are starved to make a record for the management."

Cubans on Their Mettle.

The Cuban people never stood in greater need of the good will and forbearance of the citizens of this republic than at the present crisis in their national fortunes. The first real experiment in Cuban independence begins now. Between those Cubans who have cultivated American influence since 1898 and those Cubans who have assumed this influence to be irresistible and antagonism useless there has been little freedom for the play of autonomy in political thought. If things went wrong America would intervene; if all was well America would reap the most benefit. Such was the philosophy of some and the fear of perhaps the majority among those natives who interested themselves in public affairs. America was putting the whole Cuba libre program through. Criticism was either ungrateful or useless.

The late President Palma's long exile from Cuba made him essentially a foreigner, just as his residence in the United States made him an American in thought. Looked at dispassionately by a thinking Cuban, Palma's was an "assisted" regime, notwithstanding that the assistance was spiritual rather than militant, implied rather than expressed. Whether it shall be to sink or to make safe haven, Cuba will now "paddle her own canoe." Ten years of peace and average prosperity have put the nation in good shape for the experiment. Success in that experiment will vindicate the United States theory of what a protectorate should be.

Sensation on the Stage.

Some ill advised moralists have recently been giving free advertising in New York to "five plays that ought to be suppressed." The question is one to interest the whole country, for under the present system of controlling theatrical attractions the successful sensation of the metropolitan boards is certain to invade the interior with its prestige of a "long run and crowded houses." The question of the responsibility for the continuance on the stage of plays that ought to be suppressed is agitating many communities this winter. Managers and dramatists hang together and blame it on the public. The drift of the public's protest is that the doubtful play is seldom patronized when there is any other worth while.

In the long run the occasional theater goers support the stage when it is supported. Time hangs heavy, and they want a sensation. The play which makes them laugh and cry alternately is preferred to the kind which is radical and exciting in its appeal. The one arouses good emotions; the other disquiets the soul. "Rip Van Winkle," "Shore Acres" and "The Old Homestead" never need fear competition with players like Jefferson, Herne and Denman Thompson in the east. Under present conditions the public rarely has a chance to express its opinion of this class of play at the box office. The manager's money is invested in a play that must be made to go, and the public has to stand for it, morals and all, or stay away from the theater.

If the fellows who have been warning Roosevelt not to go to Africa really mean it they should advise him "as a brother" that Africa is his proper habitat.

Wonder if the mikado also keeps the wires hot with telegrams to governors and elder statesmen when our anti-Jap legislators get busy.

Whether ice on the doorstep is desirable or not depends upon Old Sol's relation to the meridian line for the time being.

As a "getting right down to business" proposition an extra session, opening March 15, is not at all reactionary.

There remains for Taft a tarantula dinner, but he isn't going to Mexico merely to figure in an eating stunt.

Taft evidently believes in cutting out go-betweens when making cabinet nominations also.

A Modern Lincoln in the Making.

The Universalist Leader thinks that Lincoln would have had no chance to "come to himself" under modern educational experts. After he had got through the baby food and kindergarten course and the dentist and oculist were done with him he would be a "young gentleman" of eight. Thereafter his progress toward the goal of nonentity would be unmistakably direct. The Leader continues:

At ten he would know more than the old folks at home; at twelve or fourteen he would take up manual training and within two years make a rolling pin and tie it with a blue ribbon; in the high school at sixteen, where in four years he would learn that Mars was the reputed son of Juno and to recite a stanza from "The Lady of the Lake;" then to college, where he would have joined the glee club and a Greek letter fraternity, smoked cigarettes and graduated, and then become a clerk in a banker's office and never, never do any one any harm! Well—perhaps—we don't know and can't tell what might have been, but we can't help feeling thankful that Lincoln's training and education were left to Nancy Hanks—and God.

But there is just a possibility that some modern cabin boy will manage to sidestep this curriculum of degeneracy and give to the twentieth century its own Lincoln.

France and England are framing codes for the regulation of doings in the sky. From the way Tom, Dick and Harry monkey with wireless currents it is plain that vested interests in the air line won't be worth a fig unless the law goes into the miracle business too.

Before very long schoolboys will be guessing Lincoln as often as they guess Washington as the answer to "Who was 'first in peace, first in war and first in the hearts of his countrymen?'"

Jack Binns turned down American kisses and American show money because "his heart was true to Poll," back in old England. All the world loves a lover, so Jack is still a hero.

Asiatics will do well to remember that the American creed is, "One man is as good as another if he behaves himself as well."

That scheme to replace all army horses with mules is a good one to recommend to the enemy.

If this were a picayune country Taft would find nothing left to do for the successor of T. R.

Possibly the senate's advocacy of a sea level canal was a forlorn attempt to right itself.

The Wireless Under Test.

The New York Herald declares that it is convinced by the failure of the wireless system to keep up steady communication with the returning fleet when well within the radius along which radio-telegraphy promoters insist that transmission will operate normally that there is something wrong somewhere. It says that, notwithstanding the claim of transmitting stations that they are hourly receiving and sending messages across the Atlantic and up and down the home coast, the silence between shore and the approaching ships "rivals that of the proverbial clam."

The Herald has been a friend of the wireless people. Daily its columns have contained real news printed under the heading, "Wireless Dispatches." The explanation by wireless companies that rival stations and amateurs, who are experimenting on their own hook, "torture the air with aerial waves that spread over great areas and interrupt and confuse efforts entitled to serious consideration and abundant protection" gives the whole case of the wireless away. This paper cites the recent declaration of an expert in radio-telegraphy, Professor Fessenden, that claims about the "isolation of messages" by a new device are baseless. The wireless system is so far entirely in the air, and anybody can rattle and confuse the currents. When erratic human activity does not mix in, nature is almost certain to take a hand. Our own navy department recently decided, after careful investigation, that no importance can be attached to the claims of any inventor that interfering waves can be cut out. This leaves the system, which demands scientific certainty above all things, about as uncertain as a whisper in the wind.

One way to find out whether these inauguration doings are merely tawdry affairs would be to muster the whole outfit for a second performance on the day after.

If you want to know whether Uncle Sam has a long spanking reach, ask some people in Sacramento and Portland, who sampled it recently.

Exploiting "What Every Woman Knows" on the stage is another hint at woman's lack of diplomatic talent.

Teaching the Indian the beauties of art will keep him from brooding upon the mysteries of justice.

Four rules of health—open the window, kill the rats, breath deep, tell the truth.

The Jaw Power of the Goat.

The jokesmith who has been figuring on the aggregate waste of jaw power in the chewing of gum will have some statistics to base his proposition on when that herd of Angora goats has finished the novel stunt set for them in the Lassen national forest. These goats to the number of 3,000 will soon begin to eat a fire line 300 yards wide through the tough chaparral of the forest. The bushy chaparral not only chokes out seedlings that otherwise might grow into valuable timber, but is very inflammable and often carries fire into stands of merchantable trees.

The forest service announces through its bulletin that this experiment with the jaws of the goat "will be unique both as a stock raising proposition and as an engineering and tree culture problem." For the past two years the construction of fire lanes and trails has been one of the most important features in improvements carried on by the government. The ultimate end is the providing of land free from fire risk for the growth of good trees, and the jaws of the hungry goats may solve the chaparral problem, which has long vexed settlers in many infested areas. If the experiment in the Lassen forest is successful, this novel method of grazing goats will be introduced in other sections where the chaparral is a hindrance and a menace.

Martin W. Littleton, who defended Thaw in the second trial, recently declared in a public address that it was strange that Lincoln didn't make a fortune like Carnegie's or Rockefeller's. For one thing, though there were Thaw cases in Lincoln's time, it is not on record that he ever took fat counsel fees for work in that line.

It will be both wise and prudent for the authorities in Washington to recognize that delay in anti-Jap legislation on the coast is but temporary and to arrange matters with Japan accordingly.

Big and fertile Brazil is praying for Japanese immigrants, so the Jap home seeker cannot say he has "nowhere to go" but California.

The $8,000,000 annually burned up in coal for our battleships would put a good many guns and artillerymen in our coast defenses.

The man who can hold the lid down in mikado land these days must be one of those Japanese giants we hear about.

Sardou's Quip.

"Victorien Sardou hated shams," said a New York theatrical manager. "If you tried to impose on him he would call you down.

"At the Ambigu during a rehearsal he said he doubted an actor's statement that he had given forty hours of study to his lines.

"'You doubt me?' said the actor hotly. 'I assure you, M. Sardou, I have never lied but twice in my life.'

"Sardou smiled dryly.

"'Then this makes thrice, eh?' said he."

Uncle Sam's Hat Hoardings.

A year ago the whole world was in the throes of a money panic. No one has been able to discover just what became of all the money at that time. It evidently didn't vanish, although it may have changed hands and even countries in the process of liquidation. Paris had the highest money rate in forty years, London quoted a high figure, and in our chief money center 100 per cent was charged. Over the whole world business seemed to come to a dead stop.

In view of the conditions which, if they had ceased to be acute a year ago, were still portentous, it is marvelous that in this country there is money forthcoming to buy every share and bond which is offered. The same is true in France and England. London's bank rate has reached the unusually low figure of 2½, and funds are equally cheap in Paris. Within the year the unprecedented sum of $800,000,000 has been invested in new securities in the United Kingdom. A large part of this British capital went out of the country. In this country during the same period of supposed conservatism American investors drew from their hoards $1,400,000,000 to buy new securities which were home shares and bonds, so that the money invested stays here to be kept at work. A pretty good "settling down" record after a crisis that was of worldwide sweep.

UKIAH, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, MARCH 12, 1909.

A plan is being promoted to run irrigation ditches through the rich bottom lands on the east side of the river in this valley. Let us hope that these plans will be carried out, as success in the venture is bound to follow. Our farmers in the past, have been content to till the soil and depend on the rainfall, and have never failed to raise good crops, and they have been satisfied. Now a plentiful supply of water is available and can be secured at a nominal cost during the dry summer months. It has been demonstrated that this same land can be made to produce an immense yield with irrigation. Alfalfa, small fruits, garden truck, etc. with water, will increase the revenue of the farmers many fold. Many acres that have been lying idle can now be made to bring in handsome returns. It is to be hoped that the new irrigation scheme will be carried out.

The State Board of Health has received a birth certificate from Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Devilbliss of Cottoneva, in this county. The happy mother gives her occupation as that of a "farmer's wife raising children." Is not this a mission in life to be proud of? It savors of the good, old fashioned mother, who reared the children that has made this country what it is today. Could there be a higher calling? The cult of the new woman has no standing in the household of such a wife and mother. Its not often in these strenuous times that we find a woman who takes pride in being a farmer's wife and one who makes her mission known to the world. Such a wife and mother has the respect of all mankind, irrespective of age or position. All honor is due to the "farmer's wife raising children."

Another legal holiday has been added to the list. Governor Gillett signed on Saturday a bill making March 7th a legal holiday each year. NEWSY GOSSIP OF THE LOBBY

Democratic Politics as Viewed at the State Capital By the Union

The Democrats are naturally pleased at the evident disrespect with which the two factions of the Republicans view each other, and there is not likely to be any change in the Democratic situation as narrated last week. Sanford's strength as a candidate for Governor has been analyzed carefully and the figures are corroborative of his force. The counties outside of the cities will certainly be for him, while San Francisco will probably be split into factions. There is talk of Senator E. O. Miller of Visalia is the Democratic candidate for senator. He is a man of fortune, a native of the state, and stands high at the bar. His Federal court practice is large. Those who have noticed his distinguished courtesy toward an opponent on the floor of the senate and in the committees may know that he is a member of the bar of Tulare county, where the standard of practice is probably higher than anywhere else in this country, and where, so great is the consideration for Senator Miller, that his opponent in a case has been known to accept the senator's statement as to what an absent witness would testify and allow it to go into the record unquestioned.—Sacramento Union.

DEMOCRATS JUBILANT

But the Democrats feel completely assured that they have the state as good as won two years hence. They have been hard at work, and point to decided gains all over California as evidence of the fact that many, who have been backsliders from the Jeffersonian creed, have again adopted it, and are ready to shout for the Bourbon standard in the coming struggle.

It is a fact that the party will be back of the new paper to be started in San Francisco. It is to be a modest journal, but is to start with a large circulation guaranteed and paid up. That is, it is to be entered in the second class mail privilege to begin with. Under the law, these sample copies of a newspaper may be mailed to one made within a year, and a newspaper must send out of every one is one half as many copies as it has paid subscribers, all at the second-class mail rate. This with a circulation of 40,000 copies to start with, will enable the paper to reach the entire Democracy of the state by degrees, and gather them in. The details are in the hands of a expert newspaper man, one of the best in California, young and activen with a reputation as a crackerjack in the business.

SANFORD IN THE LEAD

Senator J. B. Sanford of Mendocino county, who is known all over the state, has the inside track for the nomination for Governor, and will have few opponents. The candidate for United States Senator has not been even thought of, although Dockweiler of Los Angeles, has been mentioned. Senator Caminetti would have been the first name thought about with respect to either office, but he is going to be a Cincinnatus to the extent of with drawing from the turmoil of political life, and while he wont' become a farmer, he will be satisfied to occupy a seat on the superior bench, after this session.—Sacramento Union.

Private Mark On Deer

The Albion correspondent to the Mendocino Beacon has the following to say in regard to a deer story: An unusual incident happened out in this vicinity recently. One day while Mr. Robinson was out on the river he was riding along when his sudden appearance frightened out a deer. The animal ran a little ways off and became tangled in some logs. So having the opportunity to play a little trick, he caught the deer and cut the ear mark which he uses on his stock, on the deer's ears and turned the deer loose. Hunters will have to keep an eye on the deer around here so as to not kill Frank's ear marked deer.

The biggest surprise of all will be the prices on such high class goods at the Ukiah Cloak and Suit House. Every woman should attend the opening.

TO FIGHT ON ST. PATRICK'S DAY

The Ukiah Fight Fans are Promised a Hard Contest

The boxing contest between Grover Binkley, of this city, and Bill Christy, of Lakeport, which will take place on March 17th, at York & Cleland's hall, under the auspicies of the Ukiah Athletic Club, Inc., gives promise of being one of the hardest fought battles ever pulled off in this county.

Reports rfom the training quarters of the two boys are to the effect that neither of them are overlooking any apportunity to be in the best of condition. Christy is not known to the local sports, but glowing reports as to his ruggedness, ability to stand punishment and natural cleverness, have reached here and have been an incentive to urge Binkley to get himself fit for the battle of his life. The lads will weigh 142 pounds and are billed to go twenty rounds. If the Lakeport scrapper lives up to his reputation a hard, rushing fight will be the result and the end will come before half the route is covered. Binkley delights in mixing and forcing the issue, and when he carries the fight to his opponent some torid scenes will follow.

Christy has a large following in his home town, and many of them will be present to root for their favorite. The club has arranged two good preliminaries as curtain raisers for the main event

HOP PICKING MACHINES FAIL

Growers of Sacramento Valley Abandon Device

A press dispatch to the Chronicle on March 7th, says: Hop picking by machinery is a failure. Last season's experience by the Horst Brothers and the experiments made in the attempt to overcome the defects in the machine cost the firm $10,000, which is a dead loss, and the machines have been abandoned. All the hops grown in the Sacramento valley will be picked by hand henceforth, as no one else is likely to take up the machine experiments where the Horsts left off.

The machines wasted as many hops as they picked, and were not as economical in operating as was expected. Had the expectations been realized, hop growing would have again become permanently profitable and regained its former importance as one of California's leading industries, but further reductions of the acreage are now expected. Some hop ranches in this district are being planted to sugar beets, others to alfalfa and garden truck.

SANTA ROSA INSANE

Mr. Roller Returns to Mendocino Hospital to Deport

Crosley Roller, head of the Mendocino State Hospital, returned last week from a trip to New York city last month Mr. Roller left the hospital with six insane aliens who had been ordered deported to their native country. At San Francisco he was joined by convicts from Stockton and Napa hospitals, who had a giant patient in their charge.

A car had been secured and especially fitted for the proper care of the insane on their long journey. The trip to the Atlantic sea coast was made without any undue mishap and the patients delivered safely to the immigration authorities in New York. At the latter port they were turned over to representatives of their respective counties to be deported.

Mr. Roller visited several cities of interest on his return journy, but the snow and ice in the east hastened his return to the sunshine of California.

REPAIRING SHERWOOD BRANCH

Clearing the Tracks of Landslides and Washouts

The Northwestern Pacific railway company is at present working a large crew of men and a steam shovel on the Sherwood branch of the road above En Cima. The road was blockaded in many places by large slides. It is thought that the track can be cleared this week so that the logging train can be run over it.

The citizens of Willits are anxiously awaiting the resumption of travel as the town has been without electric lights for the past month. The Northwestern Mill furnishes the electric current for the city, but the mill was forced to shut down on account of the supply of logs running short. It is expected, however, that the trains and the mill will be running regularly by Monday next.

Lumber Shipment for February

The total shipment of lumber from the coast ports of Mendocino county for the month of February was 2,349,000 feet, and 12,000 railroad ties. This amount is below the average, and the decrease in the output was caused by the heavy storms of the past month, many vessels being unable to make landings.

OREGON HOPS ARE RUNNING SHORT

Small Stock Left For the Trade to Work On. Prospects Are Good

Salem, Ore., March 8.—The supply of 1908 Oregon hops is running low. The list of unsold lots was checked up and showed but 5955 bales left in growers' hands. As probably half of this quality cannot be touched anywhere near the present price, but will be carried into the new crop, it leaves but a very small stock for the trade to work upon. The supply held by dealers is unknown, but there is little doubt that it is much smaller than has been thought, says the Oregonian.

That all the available hops will be taken up long before the season and is regarded as a certainty, in view of the interest now being shown by eastern brewers. Shipments to date from the coast have been heavy, but exports from New York have been large. The indifference of the brewers early in the season, principally because of their heavy holdings of 1907 hops, permitted much of the present crop to pass on out of the country and now some of them, or their supply agents, are likely to find themselves short of hops at a time when they need them most. Therein lies one of the points of strength in the market.

Operations against the future are being conducted actively by most of the dealers of the State, but the volume of contracting is restricted to a considerable degree, as most of the growers who were disposed to sell ahead have already done so. Of those who have not, some are waiting for more favorable bids and others are in sections where desirable quality is uncertain.

McNeff Bros. Saturday closed contracts for 86,000 pounds around Dallas at 10 cents for one year. The spot market was quiet locally. A Salem report was that Carmichael had purchased two lots at Gervais at 8 cents, 622 bales from N. W. Nelson and another lot of 37 bales.

Saturday a hop contract, including 100,000 pounds, the crop of the Geo. L. Rose's 150 acres near Independence, was signed and filed.

The price stipulated is 10 cents and the hops will be sold to Isaac Pincus & Son of Tacoma, Wash. This is the largest hop contract so far drawn up in this section and the Rose ranch is famous for its quality. The ranch is two and one-half miles east of Independence.

A BOUNTY ON COYOTE SCALPS

The New Law That is of Interest to the Stockmen of Mendocino County

Following is the complete text of the new law in regard to a state bounty of $2.50 for coyote scalps, as introduced in the senate by Senator J. B. Sanford. The bill successfully passed the senate on Wednesday of last week by a vote of 30 to 1.

The people of the State of California, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Any person who shall kill and destroy any coyote or coyotes, in any county of this state, after the passage of this act, shall be paid a bounty of two dollars and fifty cents, out of the general fund in the state treasury, for each coyote so destroyed and for which the county in which said coyote was killed has paid a bounty of two dollars and fifty cents.

Sec. 2. Any person who may kill and destroy a coyote as provided in the (previous) section, may go before any person authorized to administer oaths, and present the scalp, containing the ears and nose of the coyote destroyed, to such officer and make and subscribe to an affidavit showing the time and place that such animal was killed, which scalp and affidavit may be deposited with the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county in which such coyote was killed.

Sec. 3. The board of supervisors of each county of the state shall, quarterly determine the number of scalps deposited with the clerk of such board during the preceding quarter, and by whom, and shall give to each person who have deposited scalps a certificate certified by its clerk, showing the number of scalps deposited by such person and the sum due him at the rate of two dollars and fifty cents for each scalp and that the county has paid a like sum mentioned in the certificate to such person for the scalps mentioned therein; and no claim for such bounty shall be valid as against the state unless said scalp shall have been presented to the county clerk of such county within twenty days after such coyote was killed.

Sec. 4. When the certificate named in the last section is directed to be drawn, the board of supervisors shall, at the same time, cause the scalps to be destroyed by fire.

Sec. 5. No bounty shall be paid for any scalp unless presented within twenty days after the coyote is killed and that no bounty whatever shall be paid by the State of California until the county shall have first paid a like sum as bounty for each coyote killed and for which certificate is made and issued as provided in section three of this act.

Sec. 6. All claims against the state for bounty under the provisons of this act shall be paid respectively to the counties issuing the certificates mentioned in this act, and when paid the county shall pay each claimant the amount due for such bounty.

OCTOGENARIAN IS WEDDED

Aged Resident of Potter Valley Takes a Bride

Tuesday morning Cupid White of the marriage bureau in the county clerk's office received two aged visitors who soon stated their wants, by declaring their intention of getting married, and desired the necessary permit.

James T. Berryhill and Sarah Ann Ingram, both of Potter valley, were the loving couple who made the application. Clerk White is never so happy as when she fills out a marriage license and the necessary instrument was soon in the groom-to-be hands. The groom's age was recorded as being 85 years, while the bride surprised all present with the statement that she had seen 74 years pass by. In this case it was not necessary for Clerk White to require parental permission before she issued the license.

Judge J. Q. White was found in his chambers and he soon pronounced the words that bind. Only the necessary witnsses and a few friends were present to offer congratulations to the happy groom and blushing bride. The honeymoon will be spent at the home of Mr Berryhill in Potter valley.

Roy Pullen is now employed at the Ocotillo barber shop.
